Bret Larget

February 5, 2014

Abstract

This document introduces many examples of R code using the `ggplot2` library to accompany Chapter 2 of the Lock 5 textbook. The primary data set used is from the student survey of this course, but some plots are shown that use textbook data sets.

1 Getting Started

1.1 Installing R, the Lock5Data package, and ggplot2

Install R onto your computer from the CRAN website (cran.r-project.org). CRAN is a repository for all things R. Follow links for your appropriate operating system and install in the normal way.

After installing R, download the `Lock5Data` and `ggplot2` packages. Do this by starting R and then using `install.packages()`. You will need to select a mirror site from which to download these packages. The code will automatically install the packages in the appropriate place on your computer. You only need to do these steps once.

install.packages("Lock5Data")
install.packages("ggplot2")

1.2 Loading Data into an R Session

To load the `SleepStudy` data set from the textbook, first load the `Lock5Data` library and then use `data()` to load the specific data set.

library(Lock5Data)
data(SleepStudy)
```

To load data from files, use either `read.table()` for files where variables are separated by space or `read.csv()` where variables are separated by commas. The former requires a second command to indicate that the file contains a header row. The latter assumes a header row by default.

heart = read.table("heart-rate", header = TRUE)
students = read.csv("students.csv")

The preferred procedure to avoid typing in long expressions for a path to where the file is is to change the working directory of R to a folder where the data is (or to move the data to where the R session is running). An alternative is to use `file.choose()` in place of the file name. This will open up a window in your operating system you can use to navigate to the desired file.
