Internal Combustion Engine Failures and Their Causes

Engine failures are the result of a complex set of conditions, effects, and situations. To recognize them, and to determine their causes and remedies, it is necessary to understand the design and construction of engine components, their functions, and how these functions depend on other components and in turn affect other parts. To this end, this book examines the design and function of the most critical engine components, as well as their relevant physical and technical properties.

Designed from a popular Caravan reference work, this English edition offers assistance in determining the cause of engine damage and efficient remedies. The authors present a selection of engine failures along with their symptoms and malfunctions, and provide guidance on how to prevent such failures. The book attempts the large range of possible engine failures in a comprehensive, readily understandable manner for manufacturers too.

The range of engines covered includes general purpose engines, diesel, heavy marine, turbo-diesel, military, locomotives and vehicles, electrical generators, prime movers, and marine engines. This new edition is notably re-worked and has new illustrations, and features general purpose engines from Diesel and mechanical fuel injection systems for automotive engines.

This book is intended for all interested with engine failures those who work in repair shops, agriculturally, engineering, construction, insurance, engineering and technical colleges, universities, as well as R&D departments of engine and component manufacturers. Researchers, students, and students will learn from the thoroughly researched case-study with happen.

About the Authors

David Corbett (1922-2002) began his career in power steering and operating engine repair design in Germany and Algeria. He also established an operation that manufactured emergency diesel engines. He spent time working with various units for automotive component manufacturers and was a visiting instructor at various educational facilities overseas.

Julian (1916-2002) began his career as a diesel locomotive engine designer. He also worked as an assistant engineer on diesel-hull ferry ships and then worked for the R&D division of Leyland Motors, Newcastle upon Tyne. He ultimately became head of the IC Laboratory at Glasgow Polytechnic University for Applied Science. Dr. Jones worked at various times in engineering from the technical University of Bath.
