- Ideal stoichiometry calculations do not account for factors that can affect the relative amounts of product chemicals formed in reactions. Ideal stoichiometric calculations are based on the amounts of reactants and products under ideal conditions. Real stoichiometric calculations account for actual conditions under which the reaction occurs.
- The limiting reactant is the chemical in the reaction in least abundance for the reaction; it will be the chemical reactant that runs out first in the reaction. The limiting reactant limits the amount of chemical product(s) that can be formed. The excess reactant(s) will not be used up completely in the reaction; they will be leftover.
