Innovation, Universities, Science and Skills Committee, 2009 Incorporating HC 470 i iii 640 i iii 599 i iii 1064 i 1202 i 1194 i of session 2007 08 China and Europe on the New Silk Road Marijk van der Wende, William C. Kirby, Nian Cai Liu, Simon Marginson, 2020-10-08 The global order based on international governance and multilateral trade mechanisms in the aftermath of the Second World War is changing rapidly and creating waves of uncertainty This is especially true in higher education a field increasingly built on international cooperation and the free movement of students academics knowledge and ideas Meanwhile China has announced its plans for a New Silk Road NSR and is developing its higher education and research systems at speed In this book an international and interdisciplinary group of scholars from Europe China the USA Russia and Australia investigate how academic mobility and cooperation is taking shape along the New Silk Road and what difference it will make if any in the global higher education landscape Opening chapters present the global context for the NSR the development of Chinese universities along international models and the history and outcomes of EU China cooperation The flows and patterns in academic cooperation along the NSR as they shape and have been shaped by China's universities are then explored in more detail. The conditions for Sino-foreign cooperation are discussed next with an analysis of regulatory frameworks for cooperation, recognition, data, and privacy. Comparative work follows on the cultural traditions and academic values, similarities and differences between Sinic and Anglo-American political and educational cultures, and their implications for the governance and mission of higher education, the role of critical scholarship, and the state and standing of the humanities in China. The book concludes with a focus on the idea of a university, the values underpinning its mission, shape, and purpose, reflecting on the implications of China's rapid higher education development for the geopolitics of higher education itself.

In Between and Across Kenneth Walter Mack, Jacob Katz Cogan, 2024. In Between and Across acknowledges the boundaries that have separated different modes of historical inquiry but views law as a way of talking across them. It recognizes that legal history allows scholars to talk across many boundaries such as those between markets and politics, between identity and state power, as well as between national borders and the flows of people, capital, and ideas around the world.

Employment & Productivity Gazette Great Britain. Department of Employment and Productivity, 1970. The New Localism Bruce Katz, Jeremy Nowak, 2018-01-09. The New Localism provides a roadmap for change that starts in the communities where most people live and work. In their new book The New Localism, urban experts Bruce Katz and Jeremy Nowak reveal where the real power to create change lies and how it can be used to address our most serious social, economic, and environmental challenges. Power is shifting in the world downward from national governments and states to cities and metropolitan communities, horizontally from the public sector to networks of public, private, and civic actors, and globally along circuits of capital, trade, and innovation. This new locus of power, this new localism, is emerging by necessity to solve the grand challenges characteristic of modern societies: economic competitiveness, social inclusion, and opportunity, a renewed public life, the challenge of diversity, and the imperative of environmental sustainability. Where rising populism on the right and the left exploits the grievances of those left behind in the global economy, new localism has developed as a mechanism to address them head-on. New localism is not a replacement for the vital roles federal governments play; it is the ideal complement to an effective federal government and currently an urgently needed remedy for national dysfunction. In The New Localism, Katz and Nowak tell the stories of the cities that are on the vanguard of problem-solving: Pittsburgh is catalyzing inclusive growth by inventing and deploying new industries and technologies; Indianapolis is governing its city and metropolis through a network of public, private, and civic leaders; Copenhagen is using publicly owned assets like their waterfront to spur large-scale redevelopment and finance infrastructure from land sales. Out of these stories emerge new norms of growth, governance, and finance, and a path toward a more prosperous, sustainable, and inclusive society. Katz and Nowak imagine a world in which urban institutions finance the future through smart investments in innovation, infrastructure, and children, and urban intermediaries take solutions created in one city and adapt and tailor them to other cities with speed and precision. As Katz and Nowak show us in The New Localism, power now belongs to the problem solvers.
