

Review of J.A. Akinpelu, An Introduction to Philosophy of Education

E. P. BRANDON

Caribbean Journal of Education, 9: 152-160 (1982)¹

Can there be an introduction to X without an X to introduce? At first blush one might think not, but one should be forgiven for supposing that the philosophy of education proves one wrong. Here we have yet another Introduction to Philosophy of Education that introduces us to the introductions; when shall we ever find the real thing? It is true that there are a few genuine works in the genre, and we even have a volume in the Oxford Readings in Philosophy, but for all that the philosophy of education must have one of the highest ratios of introductions to real works of any area of human endeavour.

Akinpelu's excuse for further distending the relationship is that students in Nigeria have a hard time gathering together and making sense of the existing introductions, which are all geared to "first world" conditions and students, and which have in general dispensed with the obvious prescriptions of earlier generations. They are also hampered by the variety of topics that Nigerian examiners expect to be covered in a philosophy of education course. I am unable to judge how far Professor Akinpelu has succeeded in covering the standard Nigerian syllabus, though he certainly mentions a good number of different topics, and for no other reason that I can see; but in other respects his is an undistinguished contribution which appears to have missed most of the opportunities a genuinely non-Western focus would offer, and which contains too many inaccuracies and too much sloppiness for one to be happy recommending it to any students anywhere.² His claim to refocus the subject does, however, raise more compellingly the question of what contribution philosophy should make to the preparation of a teacher, and I shall attempt to address this question in the sequel.

But first to describe Akinpelu's own solution. After a short chapter on philosophy and how it might relate to education, he gives us two long chapters on "Educational Thinkers" (Plato, Aristotle, Isocrates, Quintilian, Comenius, Rousseau, Pestalozzi, Froebel, and Herbart, in chapter 2; Whitehead, James Africanus Beale Horton, Bishop James Johnson, E.W. Blyden, Henry Carr, and Nyerere, in chapter 3). He then treats "Schools of Philosophy of Education" – idealism, something he calls "realism", pragmatism (i.e. Dewey), and existentialism – before offering two chapters of philosophical analysis, one on a few of the standard concepts (education, teaching, and learning)

1 An Introduction to Philosophy of Education by J.A. Akinpelu, (Macmillan Nigeria, London and Basingstoke, 1981, pp. Xii & 252).

2 Philosophers should not be found claiming that the labels "pragmatism", "instrumentalism", "empiricism" and "experimentalism" are really synonymous, as Akinpelu does on p. 142. Akinpelu's "realism" endorses common-sense, science, and objective values (p. 138) which has been impossible since Galileo and was awkward even for Aristotle. Talking of rights, Akinpelu says that if one has a right "someone else has a duty to provide what one is entitled to" which is immediately waved down to facilitating one's claims (p. 214); but even that is too much – if I have a claim right to do something, others have a duty to refrain from stopping me, but not necessarily any duty to positively facilitate my doing it. On the same page Akinpelu confuses the opportunity to take an examination with the chance or opportunity to pass it. If we must go in for "who was the best ...?", I would have thought Demosthenes stood a better chance as an orator than as a lawyer (p. 36) but this is to descend to trivia. Speaking of trivia, there are a few obvious misprints, and more seriously, a garbled paragraph on the bottom of p. 192.
