

Settlement Geography

urban and rural settlements

- What is a settlement? A place where people settle or live.
- ↳ a connected system of buildings, roads and water and communication networks that allow people to meet their needs.
 - ↳ can be simple or complex:
 - simple → unifunctional settlements (one economic activity)
 - complex → multifunctional settlements (multiple economic acts.)

Difference between site and situation

Site → Physical space that a settlement occupies situation → relationship between the settlement and its surrounding environment (compared to something else around it.)

Factors affecting site

space occupied

Dry point settlement: site that avoids risk of flooding. sites are located a distance away from a water source, (as water abundant)

Wet point settlement: close to a supply of water. occurs in dry areas where water may be scarce.

Harbors: sheltered sea inlets allow / provide suitable sites for fishing and trading points.

Resources: developed close to where natural resources could be found, such as trees and fertile soil. Resources provide food, building materials and fuel.

Relief: Flat, low lying ground is much easier to build on compared to mountainous land.

Aspect: Southern hemisphere → many settlements are located on north facing slopes of valleys which are sunny and warm

Defensive site: able to defend / see danger.

Rural Settlement Structure And African Development Marilyn Silberfein,2019-09-16 This volume is the result of a group of researchers applying their insights and experience to a common theme All the authors are concerned with rural development in Africa and all have focused on the connection between the development process and the arrangement of people and their built environment in rural space Both anthropologists and geographers have contributed to the dialogue on this subject and representatives of the two disciplines are included in this volume The members of this group have never all been in the same place at the same time and so have utilized various electronic modes of communication to link their locations around the world Two conferences were organized however among a subset of the whole in order to generate a group discussion One of these meetings was a symposium on African rural development held at Temple University while a second was organized at the African Studies Association Meetings in Toronto Both opportunities helped raise issues that found their way into individual chapters The audience in each case further stimulated our thinking

Ethnic Frontiers and Peripheries Oren Yiftachel,2019-03-12 The idea for editing this book originated during an international conference titled Regional Development The Challenge of the Frontier held in December 1993 at the Dead Sea and which was organized by the Negev Center for Regional Development at Ben Gurion University of the Negev In this conference we noticed that little has been said about the impact of Israel s complex mosaic of ethnic groups on the shaping of the country s social and spatial frontiers We have therefore endeavored to bring together a number of perspectives on the evolution of ethnic frontiers in Israel and the role they play in shaping the cultural landscape of this country Yet we later realized that frontier is too limited a term and that it may through various processes have turned into a mosaic of spatial social economic and political peripheries More specifically we attempted to present the process of frontier development as perceived by Israel s ethnic and national minorities We therefore invited contributions from various other Israeli experts on these issues geographers sociologists anthropologists and political scientists which have now become the main body of chapters in this book We trust that they are representative of the main dimensions of the subject Her Majesty's Colonies
