Now with the second edition, readers will find information on key new topics such as neural networks and statistical pattern recognition, the theory of machine learning, and the theory of invariances. Also included are worked examples, comparisons between different methods, extensive graphics, expanded exercises, and computer project topics. An Instructor's Manual presenting detailed solutions to all the problems in the book is available from the Wiley editorial department. Maximum Entropy and Bayesian Methods Santa Barbara, California, U.S.A., 1993 Glenn R.

Mathematical Morphology and Its Applications to Image and Signal Processing Petros Maragos, Ronald W. Schafer, Muhammad Akmal Butt, 2012-12-06 Mathematical morphology (MM) is a powerful methodology for the quantitative analysis of geometrical structures. It consists of a broad and coherent collection of theoretical concepts, nonlinear signal operators, and algorithms aiming at extracting from images or other geometrical objects information related to their shape and size. Its mathematical origins stem from set theory, lattice algebra, and integral and stochastic geometry. MM was initiated in the late 1960s by G. Matheron and J. Serra at the Fontainebleau School of Mines in France. Originally, it was applied to analyzing images from geological or biological specimens. However, its rich theoretical framework, algorithmic efficiency, easy implementability on special hardware, and suitability for many shape-oriented problems have propelled its widespread diffusion and adoption by many academic and industry groups in many countries as one among the dominant image analysis methodologies. The purpose of Mathematical Morphology and Its Applications to Image and Signal Processing is to provide the image analysis community with a sampling from the current developments in the theoretical, deterministic, and stochastic and computational aspects of MM and its applications to image and signal processing. The book consists of the papers presented at the ISMM 96, grouped into the following themes: Theory, Connectivity, Filtering, Nonlinear System, Related to Morphology, Algorithms, Architectures, Granulometries, Texture, Segmentation, Image Sequence Analysis, Learning, Document Analysis, Applications. Artificial Neural Networks K. Mäkisara, O. Simula, J. Kangas, T. Kohonen, 2014-06-28 This two-volume proceedings compiles a selection of research papers presented at the ICANN 91. The scope of the volumes is interdisciplinary, ranging from mathematics and engineering to cognitive sciences and biology. European research is well represented. Volume 1 contains all the orally presented papers, including both invited talks and submitted papers. Volume 2 contains the plenary talks and the poster presentations. Decision Sciences Raghu Nandan Sengupta, Aparna Gupta, Joydeep Dutta, 2016-11-30 This handbook is an endeavour to cover many current relevant and essential topics related to decision sciences in a scientific manner. Reasoning, Action and Interaction in AI Theories and Systems Oliviero Stock,2006-09-04 The present book is a festschrift in honor of Luigia Carlucci Aiello The 18 articles included are written by former students friends and international colleagues who have cooperated with Luigia Carlucci Aiello scientifically or in AI boards or committees The contributions by reputed researchers span a wide range of AI topics and reflect the breadth and depth of Aiello s own work Neural and Stochastic Methods in Image and Signal Processing ,1992 Parallel Processing for Artificial Intelligence Laveen N. Kanal,1994 Parallel processing for AI problems is of great current interest because of its potential for alleviating the computational demands of AI procedures The articles in this book consider parallel processing for problems in several areas of artificial intelligence image processing knowledge representation in semantic networks production rules mechanization of logic constraint satisfaction parsing of natural language data filtering and data mining The publication is divided into six sections The first addresses parallel computing for processing and understanding images The second discusses parallel processing for semantic networks which are widely used means for representing knowledge methods which enable efficient and flexible processing of semantic networks are expected to have high utility for building large scale knowledge based systems The third section explores the automatic parallel execution of production systems which are used extensively in building rule based expert systems systems containing large numbers of rules are slow to execute and can significantly benefit from automatic parallel execution The exploitation of parallelism for the mechanization of logic is dealt with in the fourth section While sequential control aspects pose problems for the parallelization of production systems logic has a purely declarative interpretation which does not demand a particular evaluation strategy In this area therefore very large search spaces provide significant potential for parallelism In particular this is true for automated theorem proving The fifth section considers the problem of constraint satisfaction which is a useful abstraction of a number of important problems in AI and other fields of computer science It also discusses the technique of consistent labeling as a preprocessing step in the constraint satisfaction problem Section VI consists of two articles each on a different important topic The first discusses parallel formulation for the Tree Adjoining Grammar TAG which is a powerful formalism for describing natural languages The second examines the suitability of a parallel programming paradigm called Linda for solving problems in artificial intelligence Each of the areas discussed in the book holds many open problems but it is believed that parallel processing will form a key ingredient in achieving at least partial solutions It is hoped that the contributions sourced from experts around the world will inspire readers to take on these challenging areas of inquiry
