By alignment, we mean giving a generally intelligent software system the capability to act in ways that are beneficial or at least minimally harmful to humans. There are a large number of techniques that are being experimented with but this work often fails to specify what values exactly we should be aligning When making a decision an agent is supposed to maximize the expected utility of its value function Classically this has been referred to as happiness but this is just one of many things that people value In order to resolve this issue we need to determine a set of human values that represent humanity's interests Although this problem might seem intractable research shows that people of various cultures and religions actually share more in common than they realize In this book we review world religions moral philosophy and evolutionary psychology to elucidate a common set of shared values We then show how these values can be used to address the alignment problem and conclude with problems and goals for future research The key audience for this book will be researchers in the field of ethics and artificial intelligence who are interested in or working on this problem These people will come from various professions and include philosophers computer programmers and psychologists as the problem itself is multi-disciplinary

International Arbitration Audley William Sheppard, Chiann Bao, 2025-12-15 International arbitration is built not only on legal norms and procedural frameworks but by the individuals who craft interpret and implement them This book explores how human qualities such as perception reasoning and culture inform the daily practice of international arbitration The volume gathers contributions presented at the twenty sixth Congress of the International Council for Commercial Arbitration ICCA held in Hong Kong in May 2024 under the theme International Arbitration A Human Endeavour Framed as both a statement and a provocation the theme invites critical reflection on the role of the individual in a system often portrayed as neutral objective and abstract Across fifty one chapters from fifteen thematic panels the book explores questions at the heart of arbitral practice Unveiling the Human Dimension in International Arbitration The Arbitrator Decision Making and Biases Sociology and Education Judging the New York Convention Culture Localisation and Regionalism The Advocate Procedures and Behaviours It's Not Just Semantics The Hidden Power of Language Inter Personal Conduct and Ethics Dispute Resolution and the Global Community Working in an Adversarial Environment Costs and Economics and International Arbitration An AI Endeavour Set against a backdrop of global change and increased attention to inclusivity transparency and accountability in arbitration the chapters offer timely and candid reflections on the lived experience of arbitration They examine how the human element continues to shape arbitral justice today but also how it may be redefined in a future increasingly influenced by social and technological changes Together the contributions paint a picture of international arbitration as a profoundly human endeavour shaped by those who practice it and those who will redefine its future

Connected Signature Experience Stefania Saviolo, Marco Di Dio Roccazzella, 2026-02-19T00:00:00+01:00 In a world where many organizations drift amid disjointed data fragmented processes and isolated initiatives Connected Signature Experience argues that the future of customer experience depends on mastering two strategic dimensions Connection which integrates and Signature which differentiates Connection ensures that experiences flow seamlessly Externally between customers and the brand and internally among the people data and competences that bring them to life Signature gives each experience a distinctive imprint that expresses purpose and identity at every touchpoint whether human digital or physical The book presents the Connected Signature Experience Framework an actionable model that uses the metaphor of an iceberg to reveal both the visible and invisible dimensions of customer experience Above the surface lie the Signature interactions that simplify delight inspire and co create Beneath it are the aligned foundations of purpose people technology data and content that enable them The result is a clear roadmap for moving beyond organizational silos starting from the employee experience the true foundation of every authentic and lasting customer relationship
