

INSTRUMENT PANEL AND CONTROLS

FRESH AIR CONTROLS

The left and right air controls permit ventilation of your Ford in any kind of weather. The left air control knob is at the left end of the instrument panel over the parking brake release; and the right air control knob is also on the panel below and to the right of the ignition switch. Pull outward on either control knob to regulate the flow of outside air into the car. When driving in dusty areas, it's best to close all windows and open the fresh air vents for air circulation. The fresh air vents controlled by two knobs operate independently of the heater and air conditioner. To let the heater or air conditioner operate at full efficiency, be sure both AIR knobs are pushed in all the way.

MAGICAIRE HEATER AND DEFROSTER

The MagicAir Heater and Defroster has been painstakingly planned and designed for your comfort. To prevent cold air from entering through the fresh air registers, push both left and right air knobs in all the way. If the engine is cold, it is best to keep the lower heater control lever at OFF or DEFROST, until the blue engine temperature indicator light goes out. Then move the lower lever to HEAT, and set the upper lever at any position between OFF and HIGH that will maintain the desired temperature of the incoming air.
