

HOW TO DO KEYWORD RESEARCH

1 IDENTIFY YOUR LANDING PAGES

Usually landing pages are your home page and some specific internal pages for every type of product page, if you sell several different products (services and product pages).

2

DO ROUGH KEYWORD RESEARCH

Once the landing pages and their specific need have been identified, the next step is brainstorming. Come up with a short list of keywords for each page or page type. Just rely on your common sense, try to imagine how real customer might look for your products. As a result, we get the list #1.

3

CHECK KEYWORD POPULARITY WITH GOOGLE KEYWORD TOOL

Copy/paste the list #1 in Google Keyword Tool page. GKT is the most powerful and widespread tool in the whole process of keyword research.

It will estimate the average number of searches for all keywords from the list and help to find out new keywords.

Once you have measured the popularity, keywords that have to be thrown out.

Add all keywords ruled by GKT to the list.

That's you get the list #2 and can move on.

4

DO COMPETITOR ANALYSIS

This is the most delicate step. Now you need to expand the list by other good keywords that are the most powerful ones. The main tasks during competitor analysis are:

1 Finding strong sites and your direct competitors

Use GKT tool finding strong sites and your direct competitors. The direct competitors are the best pages and find 3 to 5 clearly marked strong competitors using data provided by GKT tool. Extra extension.

2 Evaluate your competition for the target keywords and obtain the most powerful ones (not structure in terms of ROI)

The last but not problem is to start by searching Google results for particular keywords. A 100-200 is considered a good number and is occupied by old and powerful sites.

3 Find out good keywords which you have not included in the keyword list yet.

The third task is the simplest one. Look for new keywords by the following ways:

- Look through the meta-tags and landing pages of the most powerful competitors. Find all keywords and add useful keywords from the competitors' meta-tags.
- Scan the anchors of links obtained by competitors' domain to yours.

SEOQ is an acronym for Search Engine Optimization Quality. It is a measure of the quality of a website's content and structure. It is a combination of several factors, including the number of unique pages, the number of the content, content quality, domain authority, etc.

Now you have the list #3.

5

FINALIZE THE LIST

Check the list #3 once again. Use Google Keyword tool to throw out the keywords that have low search volume, and again check them in Google Keyword tool. Turn the extension turned on to see the level of complexity. Scan and evaluate the quantity so that they are not too complex. As a result, you get the final (and best) list of keywords.
