and mobile learning the two technologies that underpin the learner's experience of technology enhanced learning. Each technology is critically discussed in terms of how it supports teaching and learning and judged against its strength and weaknesses in specific contexts. Based on concrete evidence including the author's design of the learning activity, key recommendations were given to other practitioners as to how they can use each technology for teaching. One finding is that as traditional classrooms change, blogging can help students develop the necessary educational skills, but more research is needed to understand the changing nature of teaching and learning as a result of using blogs. To overcome many obstacles related to mobile technology, a solid strategy was recommended. In conclusion, the author found the concept of individual and collaborative learning useful, especially in understanding the experience of learners in a given context.

Meaningful Learning with Technology David H. Jonassen, 2008. This edition describes how various technologies can be used to engage and support different learning activities. By using these processes, teachers also encourage their students to take on more responsibility and become active participants in their own learning. Learning and Leading with Technology, 2007.
