Criminalistics: An Introduction to Forensic Science

Arrival at the Crime Scene

- Upon arrival at a crime scene the first responding officer to a crime scene is responsible for:
  1. Acquiring medical assistance for injured victims
    - Medical personnel avoid disturbing evidence and approach the victim by an indirect route
    - Usually called preservation of life
  2. Detaining any potential suspects or witnesses
    - Statements are taken from victims, witnesses, and suspects
  3. Securing the crime scene to the greatest extent possible
    - The boundary is sealed off, and guards are posted at the entry to the crime scene if needed
    - All civilians and unauthorized personnel are excluded from the crime scene
  4. Calling for any additional personnel needs such as other officers and/or forensic investigators
    - The personnel required depends upon the nature of the crime scene

Securing the crime scene

- The boundaries of the crime scene must be secured w/ crime scene tape, ropes, or cones
- The secure area should include the area where the crime took place and the surroundings area where physical evidence may be located
- Once the boundaries are secured, guards may be posted to restrict access to the crime scene
- A detailed log is kept of personnel movements in and out of the crime scene. This log included personnel names and time of entry and exit
- Goal is to be able to keep the crime scene as perfect as possible
- Investigators should never do anything that might alter the crime scene (e.x. smoking, eating, drinking, or littering)
- The search for physical evidence at a crime scene must be thorough and systematic
- The search pattern selected will normally depend on the size and locale of the scene and the number of collectors participating in the search
- For a factual, unbiased reconstruction of the crime, the investigator, relying upon his or her training and experience, must not overlook any pertinent evidence
- Physical evidence can be anything from massive objects to microscopic traces
