Modern China and International Rules Longyue Zhao, 2023-01-13. This book is the final study report of the key project of the National Social Science Foundation of China, China and the Reconstruction and Innovation of International Rules in the New Era of Global Value Chain. On the basis of a comprehensive analysis of the complex situation of international rule reconstruction and innovation in the new era of the global value chain, this book makes an in-depth and systematic analysis on six types of international rules: namely, official export credit rules, international competition rules, cross-border e-commerce and digital trade rules, ISDS, multilateral agreement on investment, and international regulatory cooperation. It also introduces the theories and practices of China's engagement in the new round of reconstruction and innovation of international rules.

Proceedings of the 2022 2nd International Conference on Economic Development and Business Culture (ICEDBC 2022) Yushi Jiang, Yuriy Shvets, Hrushikesh Mallick, 2023-05-11. This is an open access book. With the support of universities and the research of AEIC Academic Exchange Center, the 2nd International Conference on Economic Development and Business Culture (ICEDBC 2022) will be held in Dali from June 24th to 26th. Compared with previous conferences, it will discuss more in depth economic independent innovation, open cooperation, and innovative business culture under the background of the new development stage, new situation, and new journey era. There will be a broad exchange environment. Well-known experts, scholars, or entrepreneurs in the field will be invited to make keynote reports. Contributing authors are also very welcome to actively participate in the conference and build an academic exchange ceremony.

World Internet Development Report 2018 Chinese Academy of Cyberspace Studies, 2020-06-16. This book is an important outcome of the Fifth World Internet Conference. It provides a comprehensive account of the new trends and highlights of global Internet development over the past year, covering network infrastructure, information technology, digital economy, world internet media, cyber security, and international cyberspace governance. This year, the book improves the Global Internet Development Index System and adds more countries into the assessed list in order to reflect more comprehensively, objectively, and accurately the general situation of the world Internet development and thus to provide reference for all countries in promoting Internet development and governance.

The Drivers and Impediments for Cross-border E-commerce in the EU. , 2013. There are no official statistics on international online trade in goods so far. This paper uses a consumer survey to construct a unique matrix of online B2C domestic and cross-border trade in goods between the 27 EU Member States. We compare online and offline trade patterns for similar goods. We find that the standard gravity model performs well in explaining online cross-border trade flows. The model confirms the strong reduction in geographical distance-related trade costs compared to offline trade. However, the trade costs associated with crossing language barriers increase when moving from offline to online trade. Institutional variables such as the quality of legal institutions online payments facilities and costefficiency of parcel delivery systems might play a role in cross border trade but they remain statistically insignificant in this dataset In a linguistically segmented market like the EU online home market bias remains high compared to bias in offline cross border trade We conclude that it is hard to predict at this stage whether regulators could boost online cross border trade through improvements in legal and financial systems and parcel delivery infrastructure

Drug Violence, the Peso, and Northern Border Retail Activity in Mexico Thomas M. Fullerton (Jr.),Adam G. Walke,2015 Exchange rate fluctuations and international business cycles may acutely affect retail sales in border regions where residents have the option of shopping in the neighboring country This study examines the determinants of retail sales in six cities located along Mexico s northern border Retail activity in these cities is found to increase in tandem with real depreciations of the peso lower unemployment rates in neighboring US countries and increased border crossings Taken together these results suggest that cross border shopping contributes to retail activity in the northern border region of Mexico The opportunities for cross border shopping may also condition the impact of violent crime on border region retail sales In recent years northern Mexico has been deeply affected by a crime wave associated with competition among drug cartels Homicides related to organized crime are found to have a statistically significant negative impact on retail sales A surge in crime levels may stifle retail activity in affected areas as extortion and attacks force some stores to close or reduce operating schedules at the same time that some potential customers elect to shop in relatively safer districts across the international divide Page 4
