THE IMPORTANCE OF AFFECT IN LANGUAGE LEARNING

Abstract

As language teachers, we have to pay attention to many things in our work but cognitive aspects of foreign or second language learning cannot provide all the information we need. If we also give attention to the affective domain, this can make our teaching more effective. In this article we will be considering some of the affective factors and exploring how they influence the process of language learning. Special emphasis will be placed on implications for teachers in the classroom.

Keywords: emotions, motivation, self-esteem, anxiety, group dynamics, confidence, communication

Słowa kluczowe: emocje, motywacja, poczucie własnej wartości, lęk, dynamika grupy, pewność siebie, komunikacja

Cognitive aspects of the student have always been considered a basic factor in learning but now more and more attention is also given to affective factors. Jensen (1998:71) pointed out that “the affective side of learning is the critical interplay between how we feel, act, and think. There is no separation of mind and emotions; emotions, thinking and learning are all linked”. Many studies from the neurosciences that deal with learning show that a positive affective environment puts the brain in the optimal state for learning: low stress and high interest in the learning process. Referring to second language acquisition, Stern (1983:386) affirmed that “the affective component contributes at least as much
