

Develop a communication plan in nine steps

A communication plan defines the approach that a program will use to communicate with communities. It shows crucial outcomes, information sharing and resource considerations. The nine steps in this template address the key aspects that programs should consider:

1. Identify your objectives.
2. Choose your target audiences.
3. Design your key messages.
4. Select your communication methods.
5. Plan for how you communicate.
6. Identify your key risks.
7. Draft a budget.
8. Implement the plan.
9. Monitor the results and look for ways to improve.

Each step includes a series of questions to help staff identify the best approach for the program.

Program managers may choose to take the lead in developing a communication plan, as they may work through each of the nine steps with their staff. For an example of how to develop the plan as a team, see Tara Lippitt's article, "How to work with staff to develop a communication plan."

When implementing projects with partners, CBO staff may include partners in developing a communication plan. For example, by providing the template as a resource or collaborating a section of the plan's content.
